THE LINING-OUT STOCK SITUATION

We are in that period predicted and dreaded by the lining out stock grower. Due to labor and seed shortages and some adverse weather for the past three or four years, lining out stock is really short, and getting more scarce every day. During the war seed was impossible to secure from Europe, varieties grown from imported seed are practically impossible to obtain, except in a few remaining transplant grades. Prices are higher than last year, but will go still higher before spring, and many grades and varieties impossible to obtain by spring. Better cover your needs as quickly as possible.

A FEW OF OUR 3YR. SEEDLINGS

Abies balsamiae (Balsam Fir)

Balsam Fir as a mature ornamental isn't worth a "hoot", but until it reaches a height of about 20 ft. it is a beautiful tree. However its real value is in growing it for Xmas trees because of its fir fragrance and its needle holding characteristics.

FERNS

Also known as Ostrich Plume fern. One of the best of the hardy fern. Grows to a height of from two to four feet every year dying back to the root every fall after a hard frost. Ideal for shady spots and secluded nooks. Our roots are all No. 1 grade, - large and husky. We have these in storage and they can be shipped any time during the winter. Make an excellent over the counter winter item to sell, as many people pot them and plant inside.
